

The manuscript has been improved after the revision and in my opinion can be published as it is. Due to the nature of the content (emerging sectors) and the approach (review), there is still a lack of validation data and many assumptions are general statements, however this manuscript is valuable to highlight the importance of the two sectors coupling, the challenges and the knowledge gaps to be filled in order to accelerate the development of renewable offshore hydrogen production.